crestline high school crestline, ohio volume XXXVII

mrs. ruth adams

in appreciation of her many years of devoted service to the crestline schools, her church, and to our community, we, the class of 1965, proudly dedicate this annual to mrs. ruth adams, an elementary teacher who retired after thirty-four years of service, thirty-three of which were spent in the crestline system.

the sympathetic understanding, search for knowledge, and high ideals she installed in us in our early years remain with us and will serve as an inspiration as we prepare to graduate and meet life's problems.

each year the american legion and the legion auxiliary sponsor boy's state and girl's state in each of the fifty states. the crestline post sends two boys and a girl who are chosen by the high school faculty for their intelligence, leadership and service. this year dave fisher and chuck krichbaum attended boys' state on the ohio university campus, while joan gordon was at capital university.

they learned about ohio's government by actually governing the imaginary states. after the excitement, the citizens settled down to their jobs to learn by governing themselves. officials ran from governor to fireman.

speeches by prominent people in ohio government added to the educations gained. in their eight days at o.u. and capital our students gained knowledge that can be used now and in the years to come.

united nations tour

each year the crestline odd fellows and kiwanians cooperate in sponsoring a delegate to the united nations. the delegate is selected by the faculty of the high school on the basis of character, scholarship and leadership.

linda schaeffer, this year's delegate, toured the eastern sections of the united states visiting such educational sites as washington, d.c., boston, philadelphia and canada's capital, ottawa. during her week in new york city, linda learns how the united nations functions and its purpose in the world of the present and future.

azizi, our american field service exchange student, is eighteen and comes from shiraz, iran. he has already graduated from an all boys' high school in his own town but will graduate again from crestline high school with the class of '65. he is a member of the student council and went to washington, d.c. with his class this spring.

his american family is the george yockey family of north henry street.

we, the class of '65 will our ability to stick together to the underclassmen of c.h.s.

i, jennie adams, will the respect the seniors have for themselves to the underclassmen, who seem to have respect for no one.

i, jerry adams, will all my junior high friends to the great school of chs.

i, harold ady, will my ability get along with miss west to anyone who is crazy enough to accept it.

i, bernie anatra, will to emily tridico a one-way ticket to california. think you'll go for good this time?

i, marion anderson, will linda mills my spatula full of hair to put in stylish styles in case that wig falls off. let your hair hang down . . . linda.

i, richard armstrong, will to the shiny haired judy fuson the ability to take kidding without resorting to violence. ouch! watch that kicking, judy.

i, azizi, will all my senior dates to my american brother, alan.

i, jeanne ayers, being of sound mind, do will to cassie marshall the presidency of the pun-of-the-month club and as further proof of my good will hereby bestow membership in said club to larry running. class of '66, beware!

i, betty barker, will susie ellenberger my gym suit for the junior and senior dance. (start from the beginning and work to showtime, susie.)

i, richard bauer, will my secrets of love life to rusty, and will keep my date for myself. us steady guys would rather fight than switch!

i, eileen beam, will to donna ingles one bottle of nerve pills and some judo lessons. good luck.

i, ruth biglin, will to all junior girls the rough chairs for the hose.

i, henri lou bostic, will 6 inches of my height to toni moyer, m.b. to kathie hemphill, and my driving to linda fisher.

i, bill britton, will back to chs my years of work and misery. and to emma lou carter the patience of going steady.

i, bob britton, will the dust in my locker to joseph donald russell.

i, linda bross, will a course in psychoanalysis to jim smith. maybe you can figure yourself out, because i sure can't.

i, kathy bumpus, will my old tie clasp to mr. leymaster.

i, renee campbell, will my brain to mary shephard in government for next year. good luck.

i, georgia clever, will to bill gall a deck of playing cards. alsways remember the 4 queens, bill?

i, dave conner, will my good grades to dennis engard and my great pool shooting ability to my brother john. i also will all my tardy slips to mr. leymaster.

i, chuck conrad, will my ability to stay out of fights to my brother, bill. good luck.

i, judy cordrey, will my ability to smile every day to mr. augler. live it up grouch!

i. linda del greco, (suffering from a neurosis), will to diana giordano one slightly used psychology book. may all your problems be good looking!! (happy reading shorty!)

i, bruce dotson, will all my 6'4" to ed wood. good luck, ed.

i, pam douglass, will to the neatest teacher her, a life time of peace and quiet and a year's supply of nerve pills!! sorry for the bad time, mr. n.

i, karon emig, will to susie ellenberger the ability to clean windows without breaking them.

i, sharon emig, will to dreama dotson, an extra tank of gas for her moto boat. next time--don't steal it.

i, russell ellenberger, will my ingenuity of breaking up steadies to tom eich. to richard bauer and robert mahek, my courage and manliness.

i, danny engard, give back to all the big junior boys all the big junior girls.

i, tom fawcett, will to mike leymaster one case of rolling rock. mr. k. has the church key.

i, dave fisher, will to chs bus driver chester fisher and his able assistant jim glauer, 50,000 buckets of soapy water to keep the school bus and that brown chevy clean. may they both be spotless.

i, jack fletcher, will a bullhorn and a cattle prod for use by the study hall monitors. don't strain your vocal cords ladies.

i, dee dee forshaw, will to bill klopfenstein my collection of church keys. keep 'em poppin mr. k. mike's got the rolling rock.

i, ernie fuson, being of questionable mind, will to larry running my ability to play the guitar.

i, tom garrett, will mike morton a new seat belt. don't fall out of any more cars, mike.

i, tom glauer, being of sound mind and body will to chuck pagnard a year's supply of johnson and johnson bandaids. don't step on anymore lightbulbs, poof!!!

i, joan gordon, will my good lab abilities to judy feick. i hope you have better luck than i did.

i, bill grim, will denny armstrong my key chain (so he doesn't lose his keys.)

i, kathy haag, will my quietness and innocent look to shirley horning. may trouble never find her in her future years at chs. remember what happened on the "t" day, shirley?

1965 class prophecy

while doing spring cleaning at the lockers at c.h.s. we came across a crystal ball in the bottom of one. we took a look to see what the class of 1965 will be doing twenty years from now.

in xandu, we saw don rowland accompanying his dancing fleas on the trumpet. holding the flaming hoop for the grand finale was junior armstrong. bill grim, an illustrious pet shop owner donated the provisions for the fleas to the chief trainer, mark speelman, also known as the lord of the fleas.

suddenly this scene faded before our incredulous eyes and we beheld still another sight. in an african village we saw a mass rally of the humane society demonstrating against tigers attacking elephants. carrying a sign saying, "help save our elephants" was nancy kindle, followed by barb middleton, emily tridico, and harold ady. those favoring more direct action by coloring stripes on the elephants to disguise them were larry sesco, bob britton, and karon emig. deep in the jungle we were confronted by that notorious head hunter, tom meldrem. trying to capture him was kathy haag and judy cordrey, great protectors of law and order.

just as they were about to catch him, the scene changed to a movie set a cowboy show. starring was that bad man richard bauer, and his gang of outlaws, including dave connor, malcolm webster, and dick crissinger. close behind was the posse, led by dave fisher, followed by charlie waddell, and dan stanovich. in an old western town, russell ellenberger was drinking in linda del greco's saloon. behind the bar was lee quail.

this picture faded and we came to shaw azizi's kingdom in supercalifragilisticexpialidocius. in the throne room we saw jerry adams, the court jester and john liberti, the minister in charge of the harem, including jeanette hale, adele pearl, ann rieman, and pam douglas. in a nearby desert, knitting booties for the tree toads and sitting under an extinct palm tree were maxine hall and georgia clever. joyce kirby, a notorious scientist had been banished from the land because of her experiment which had made these palm trees extinct.

we found ourselves in a large legislature where dan page was trying to pass an amendment on the law of gravity. opposing this bill was the distinguished lady lawyer, bernie anatra. the stenographer linda shephard, who insisted on taking notes in hieroglyphics. tony hohenbrink was petitioning for a home for misplaced earthworms.

suddenly the crystal ball showed us a scene in paris. at a sidewalk cafe, we saw can-can girls joan gordon, kay thomas, and bonnie hodges. in the distance we were astonished to see joe weiss, and tom creel and andy moses trying to spray the eiffel tower chartruese. on the other side, trying to paint it with pink and blue stripes, were becky maples, phyllis saxton, and marion anderson. there was a circus in town and manicuring the nails of the gorilla was tom garrett. jack "arbestos" fletcher was featured as the flame eater. on the tight rope was that daring team of judy holwager and bill sheehan, doing the watusi on the high wire while balancing a glass of water on their noses. in the next block, the celebrated poet, eddie solinger was having a party for his success. the climax of the evening was when a huge cake was wheeled in and jeanne ayers sprang from the center of it. a prominent guest at the party was cindy von berg, author of the book "goldfoot." she has become known as ian fleming the second.

alas, this scene faded too from our eyes and another one appeared before us. we saw that we were on the north pole where sara pegram and renee campbell were running a school for orphaned polar bears. an expedition led by tom glauer passed by looking for proof that there really is a santa claus.

this short scene wisked us away to the bottom of the ocean where we saw terri mathews and kathy bumpus gathering materials for a do it yourself seaweed kit. also down there were skip rox and tom maxwell looking for charlie, the tuna fish. a submarine under the direction of jenny stark and her crew member, janice myers, passed us looking for a place to set up a new colony on the ocean bottom. in the submarine was a newspaper with betty stefle's name and picture on it. she had been trying to scale mt. everest on roller skates.

after making us sea sick, the picture changed to an elegant restaurant where the famous chefs, fritz howe and jim milligan were passing out their favorite recipes written on toilet paper. nearby, bruce dotson was adjusting big ben to a 61 1/2 minute hour. below mike wachtel and dee dee forshaw were singing rock and roll songs backwards in an attempt to become famous. ted reed, an unconventional barber who used a lawn mower instead of scissors was sneaking up on them in an effort to cut mike's and dee dee's long locks which made him nervous.

next the scene shifted to the moon where we saw lynn thompson crocheting multi-colored doilies and selling them door to door. down the street we saw a sign for betty barkers and ruth biglin's baby sitting service for pet aardvarks. all at once, johnny "pearl seed" tesso strolled into sight. he had been traveling the countryside planting pearls wherever he went. stringing along were eileen beam and henri lou bostic, underworld villains, who dug up the pearls and sold them to those black market racketeers, chuck adkins and tom skowronski.

once again the scene shifted to good old earth, and we saw ernie fuson sitting on top of a flag pole in his campaign for goldwater. trying to shake him down were joyce yerkey and eddie moyer. dale thorpe passed by blowing soap bubbles. sneaking up behind him was that notorious bean-shooter, dave "bullseye" klopfenstein.

next the crystal ball took us to siberia where we saw dan engard working in the salt mines for tying his shoe with his right hand. whipping him with cold wet spaghetti was tom fawcett. pouring tomato sauce over the whip were jenny adams and sharon emig. screaming that they forgot the mushrooms was barb morrow.

in the nearby valley of the jolly green giant, becky barile was picking peas. standing next to her was linda bross who was working on a chemical formula to make the sun rise in the west. in the next garden chuck conrad was watering his plastic flowers while dave sauers was planting ping pong balls to see what would come up. we learned that chuck krichbaum, bill britton and jim marshall had been banned to outer space for trying to convert the atlantic ocean to kool-aid.

well, it looks like the class of 1965 has a booming future, because all of this activity was too much for the crystal ball. it exploded in our hands!

the evening shadows softly fall on years of wonderful memories at crestline high. the shadows echo the scurrying between classes, the joyour laughter of classmates and friends, the excitement of friday night's game, the nervous expectation before the curtain goes up, the formality of dinner jackets and formals and the exhilarated tension of graduation night. yes, the shadows have fallen for the class of 1965 at crestline high but the dawn of a new and challenging life faces each of you in the years ahead. all of us, who remain behind, pray that your shadow grows straight and tall and casts afar.

NOW ?

The school doors are closed. Twelve years of learning lie behind. But your education is not finished . . . it is just beginning.

Yesterday's lessons won't fit all of tomorrow's problems. New discoveries will disprove some of the theories you've been taught. Technological advancement will create new ways and methods for doing things.

The most important thing you've learned is HOW to learn. From now on you'll be getting your education from reality. Your grades won't be on a report card; they'll be points for--or from--your success.

Ohio Seamless joins your family and other friends with congratulations and encouragement. May you receive all the success and happiness you deserve.
